

Anti-Money Laundering (AML) Policy

Document ID: COM-AML-001

Version: 3.0

Effective Date: February 1, 2026

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to prevent the company from being used for money laundering, terrorist financing, or other financial crimes.

Scope

This policy applies to:

- Employees
- Contractors
- Third-party representatives
- Business partners involved in customer onboarding or financial transactions

Definitions

Money Laundering

The process of concealing the origin of illegally obtained funds through a series of transactions.

Terrorist Financing

The collection or provision of funds intended to support terrorist activities.

Politically Exposed Person (PEP)

An individual entrusted with a prominent public function and therefore considered higher risk.

Customer Due Diligence (CDD)

Prior to establishing a business relationship, the company must:

- Verify customer identity.

- Confirm beneficial ownership.
- Assess customer risk level.
- Screen against sanctions lists.

Required documentation may include:

- Government-issued identification
- Proof of address
- Corporate registration documents

Enhanced Due Diligence (EDD)

EDD must be performed when:

- Customers are classified as high risk.
- Customers are identified as PEPs.
- Transactions involve high-risk jurisdictions.
- Unusual transaction patterns are detected.

EDD may include:

- Source of funds verification
- Source of wealth verification
- Senior management approval
- Increased monitoring frequency

Transaction Monitoring

The company shall monitor transactions for:

- Structuring activity
- Rapid movement of funds
- Unusual transaction volumes
- Sanctions-related risks
- Suspicious behavioral patterns

Suspicious Activity Reporting

Employees must immediately report suspicious activity to the Compliance Department.

Examples include:

- Multiple transactions designed to avoid reporting thresholds.
- Unexplained large cash deposits.

- Transactions inconsistent with customer profile.
- Attempts to conceal ownership.

Employees must not inform customers that a suspicious activity review or investigation is underway.

Record Retention

AML records must be retained for a minimum of five years following account closure or termination of the business relationship.

Records include:

- Customer identification records
- Transaction records
- Investigation documentation
- Compliance reviews

Training

AML training is mandatory:

- Upon hire
- Annually thereafter
- Following major regulatory changes

Non-Compliance

Violations of this policy may result in:

- Disciplinary action
- Termination of employment
- Regulatory penalties
- Criminal prosecution where applicable